Settling with an exchange

Updated 1 month ago

Settlements can be initiated by you or the exchange. When supported, it can be on-demand or based on certain predefined thresholds (see the Supported Exchanges table).

Exchange-initiated settlements

Some settlements are initiated by the exchange itself as per their settlement cycles. For specific times and frequencies see our Supported Exchanges and Assets for Fireblocks Off-Exchange article.

Customer-initiated settlements

The customer-initiated settlement option, which is not supported by all exchanges, allows you to ask the exchange to calculate the amounts due for settlements. This provides visibility on the position intra-settlement cycle. Some of the exchanges also allow you to trigger these ad-hoc settlements without waiting for the settlement cycle to commence.

To initiate and complete a settlement:

1. Go to the Exchanges tab in the Fireblocks Console of your main workspace.
2. Select the exchange account you want to settle with, and then select Settle.
3. Review the settlement instructions generated by the exchange, and then select Settle if you agree.

4. You will automatically see any incoming transactions as a result of the settlement. Sign any outgoing transactions as a result of the settlement. These will also be automatically initiated.

For the sake of trading continuity, settlement to the CVA does not alter your available balance on the exchange.
